'THE PINK PANTHER' IS ON THE PROWL! JOINS GOLD KEY LINEUP OF FAVORITES

A NEW HIT COMIC FROM DISNEY STUDIOS

Direct from their smashing success in the big Walt Disney Production of "The Aristocats," O'MALLEY AND THE ALLEY CATS make her bow in their very own comic book. Based on the characters in the Disney length animated feature, O'Malley and his friends carry on in brand-new antics and adventures. Watch for O'MALLEY AND THE ALLEY CATS next month.

FLEEGLE BINGO DROOPER SNORKY

They're zingy, they're zany in two new mad adventures: The Kangeroones and The Sillyfaced Paleface in the next Hanna-Barbera comic, THE BANANA SPLITS.

IT'S WICKY IT'S WACKY!

For medieval magic, one can hold a boom to WACKY WITCH. She'll charm you every witch way next month.

A HOWL AROUS FELLOW SHE

Something new has been added to the Gold Key Comics hit parade. The Pink Panther is doing his thing in some of the funniest situations you'll ever see, and the things he does shouldn't happen to a panther. For instance, here he's looking for a baby rattle but finds there's one rattle he can't toy with. Don't miss. Congratulations, it's Pink! in the first issue of THE PINK PANTHER next month.

"HERE'S A VERY NICE RATTLE, BUT I'M AFRAID IT'S ALREADY SPOKEN FOR."

PLAYING WITH FIRE

It's a dangerous weapon in the hands of savages, but it would be more dangerous for Turok and Andar if they refused to reveal the secret of fire to them. Read The Savage Flame in the next cracking issue of TUROK, SON OF STONE.

YEE MEE HEE

Witch epoo vrooms again in Follow That House! The fun is fantastic in H. R. PUFNSTUF.

STAMP AND COIN

COLLECTOR'S CORNER

by GEORGE ALLARD

FLAG STAMP MOVES TO FASTER PRESS

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount announced that production of the 6-cent American Flag stamp in sheet form has been transferred from the Giori presses to the more sophisticated Huck press to produce an estimated annual saving of $75,000.

The new version with a slightly smaller image area was first issued in Washington, D.C.

Press speed of the 9-color Huck press greatly exceeds that of the Giori. Additionally, the press phosphor tags, gums and perforates stamps in one continuous operation. Releasing the Giori presses from the heavy duty of printing the Flag stamp will free the presses for production of commemorative stamps.

Since May of last year, the Huck has been printing the Flag stamp in coil version. It, as well as the new version in sheet form, has an image size 5/100th inch smaller than Giori production.

The stamp was issued in panes of 100, with a plate number every fourth stamp. Depending on the position on which the first number appears, there are two or three numbers per pane.

SWAZILAND

Next to the Olympics, there is nothing which fires the enthusiasm of athlete and spectator alike within the Commonwealth as the Commonwealth Games. Every fourth year an increasing number of athletes meet to compete in a spirit of friendly rivalry unmatched by any other sporting event throughout the world. This year the Games were held in Edinburgh and to mark the event Swaziland issued a set of four commemorative stamps.

The events to be decided were... Badminton, Fencing, Swimming and Diving, Boxing, Cycling, Weightlifting, Wrestling and Bowls. To accommodate the Games a vast new stadium and complex were built to ensure that the athletes could train, compete and relax in the best possible conditions and the maximum number of people could watch the games in comfort.

COINS and MEDALS

COMBAT MEDAL

World War II combat infantrymen and the Remagen Bridgehead over the Rhine River into Germany on March 7, 1945, are commemorated in a new release by Presidential Art Medals, Inc., of Englewood, Ohio. The price of the medal in bronze is $4.00.

TWO NEW TREASURY MEDALS

The Bureau of the Mint has added two new medals to the list of those available for sale to the public at the United States Mint in Philadelphia. They are of the Secretary of the Treasury, David M. Kennedy, and Director of the Mint, Mary Brooks.

The medals can be ordered from the Superintendent, United States Mint, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 29106, for $3.00 each, including postage and handling costs. The Kennedy medal is designated Secretary List #223; the Brooks, Director of the Mint List #320. Mail orders should bear the list number and be paid by personal check or money order, not cash.

YOUR FUTURE

As a SCHOOL COUNSELOR

You will help direct the destinies of many young people — perhaps even the destiny of the world — if you choose to be school counselor!

The personal and social development of students, the solving of problems that may interfere with their success, and their decisions in education and vocation will all be your main concern.

From records, interviews, and tests, the counselor helps the student analyze information and develop a course of study and a plan for education which will fit his abilities and interests.

Counselors also may provide information on occupations, help students find part-time work, and assist them in personal problems. Many counselors teach social studies or other subjects, as well.

To be a counselor, you must have a concern for the individual and a belief that each one is unique and worthwhile. Education requirements are a teacher's certificate and a counselor's certificate, which is acquired through graduate work and some years of teaching.

Because the great value of guidance services for all children is being recognized today, school counselors are themselves destined to be in great demand for good-paying positions.

YOUR FUTURE

In ADVERTISING

You will find variety, excitement, and a constant challenge to your creative ability, if you choose to go into advertising; and you may see your work on television, in newspapers, or even in skywriting!

Advertising workers plan, prepare, and place advertisements before the public for businessmen, who try to reach potential customers. A complex business, advertising is comprised of highly specialized occupations, such as: advertising manager, for the manufacturer; account executives, who handle advertising agencies' relations with its clients; copywriters, who create the slogans and texts; artists and layout men, who prepare the illustrations and combine copy and artwork; media directors, who decide where and when the ad should be used; production managers, who produce the final copy in its proper form; and research directors, who assemble needed information.

To be successful in advertising, you must be creative, able to work under pressure, have initiative and drive. A college degree with a major in journalism or marketing is usually required. The competition is very stiff and beginning jobs are menial, but those with the background and aptitude can climb the ladder to high-paying positions.

SNURF

The Snurfing Bug will bite you if you don't watch out!

This is what Snurfing looks like. Snurfing looks like fun! You catch it from a Snurfer. Something that rides like a surfboard, and maneuvers like a ski. You can stand on a Snurfer. You can sit on a Snurfer. All you need is a little snow and a little hill to find out how much fun Snurfing looks and feels like.

This is what Snurfing will do for you. It will make you a national hero if Snurfing ever becomes a national sport. It will make you shout a lot outdoors, where shouting is ok. It will give you rosy cheeks. It will fill your pockets with other kid's candy and stuff if you let them use your Snurfer.

This is what Snurfing won't do for you.

It won't keep you home from school. It won't make you feel icky. It won't make you lonesome. It won't do your homework for you. It won't make your mom mad at you for moping around the house.

CHEEP

This is how you catch a Snurfer.

You go to a store, and ask the man there for an official Brunswick Snurfer. You pay him some of the money you've saved up, or your grandma gave you for your birthday.

You take your Snurfer out and find some snow, and have some fun. But be careful! When the Snurfing bug bites you, you may be late for supper.
